CROSSING ELIMINATION ALONG PENINSULA AIM OF PALO ALTO MEETING

Three Counties Join In Move To Remove Dangerous Crossings From Peninsula Highways

Plans for an effective statewide campaign to eliminate death-dealing railroad crossings will be outlined at a meeting at Palo Alto next Tuesday night, March 11.

The meeting, which will be held at the Palo Alto Community House, is called by the Peninsula Grade Crossing Conference, an organization composed of representatives of the three peninsula counties—San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara—and their principal communities and civic organizations.

Prof. William F. Durand, of the engineering department of the Stanford University, chairman of the Conference, will preside at the meeting.

The plan of the Conference, according to State Senator Roy Felton, who will represent San Francisco, is to form a statewide organization and to place an initiative on the ballot at the next state election that will progressively eliminate the most dangerous grade crossings within cities.

A sub-committee, appointed at a previous meeting of the Conference, will report at the meeting Tuesday on the text of the measure it is proposed to place on the ballot. This measure is an enabling act empowering the legislature to issue state aid bonds, with certain limitations, for the removal of the grade crossings.

Such eliminations are to be first undertaken within the boundaries of municipalities where the crossing traffic is the heaviest.

"The removal of dangerous grade crossings on county roads and within municipalities is one of the most pressing needs that confronts the state in dealing with the problems of highway traffic," said State Senator Felton, in announcing the plans for the conference.

"Every year the terrible toll of dead and injured, due to rail and highway crossing accidents, amounts to a more appalling total. Last year, according to the figures of the State Railroad Commission, there were 215 persons killed and 994 persons injured in 2924 grade crossing accidents in California. This enormous and needless sacrifice of life and limb must be stopped. There is an insistent demand throughout the state for immediate and drastic measures to eliminate this menace to every person who uses the streets and highways.

Zinola was arrested several weeks ago following a fire at his home on Franklin street. While firemen were extinguishing the fire, Officer Sylvester Douglas went to the basement of the house. There, it is charged he found a quantity of wine

"The Peninsula Conference was formed four months ago to deal with grade crossing problems in Peninsula communities. It has since been conducting an intensive study of the problem and has found interest in corrective measures so widespread that it has been determined to form a statewide organization and launch a statewide campaign."

The latter announced to Postmaster Mable that President Hoover had reappointed him as postmaster of Redwood City. In making this announcement Postmaster General Brown said: "It was a pleasure to recommend your appointment in view of representations of those who know you best that you will conduct your office in accordance with the high standard of public service set by the president."

San Mateo Men Face Charges Of Defrauding

Indicted by Federal Jury for Bank
Shortage

Two San Mateo county residents are charged with conspiracy in the misapplication of bank funds in indictments issued in the court of United States Judge Frank H. Kerrigan. They are George N. Keyson of San Mateo, president of the San Francisco Stock Exchange; and Douglas C. Alexander, of Burlingame. Both men are members of the San Francisco brokerage firm of Leib, Keyson & Co. Four other members of the same firm, Ray S. Rossiter, a partner in the business, and Charles H. Clay, Elmer J. Griffin, and Claud Galmarrino, are also named in the federal indictments.

In addition to these men, three employees of the Bank of Italy are charged with conspiracy to embezzle money from the bank. They are Joseph C. Bray, former manager of one of the San Francisco branches of the Bank of Italy; R. G. Haddow, his assistant; and Daniel P. Burke, a clerk.

The charge against the San Mateo men and their associates in the brokerage firm is that they accepted money on stocks which they knew had been embezzled from the Bank of Italy men. A sum in excess of $529,000 is said to have been so used.

Keyson faces two charges, one of "aiding and abetting" which carries with it a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison; the other of "conspiracy," carrying with it a maximum term of two years.

Bail was set for Alexander at $5000 and for Keyson at $10,000. Both men and others connected with their firm disclaim all part in the peculations of the bank men. In a statement issued by Keyson, when informed of the indictments, he said:

"Of course, the indictments are a complete surprise to all of us. We are familiar with the so-called Bray case. Bray came to me and said that he was interested in the accounts of certain customers in our office. I immediately informed Bray's employers of what he had said.

"Nothing in our connection with that matter can possibly justify indictments against us. When we are furnished with all the details of the charges, we shall take such action as may be necessary."

Store Entered By Thieves at Night

The store operated by C. J. Messner at Belmont was entered by thieves sometime Sunday night, according to a report sent to the office of Sheriff J. J. McGrath. The robbers entered the store by breaking in a plate glass door.

Inside an attempt was made to break open the safe. A pick and a sledge hammer were used, and the safe was badly damaged but was not opened. Unable to secure the contents of the safe the burglars broke open a pencil vending machine and secured about $15 in nickels. Merchandise and some small change from the till was also taken.

Jury Indicts Two In Realty Scheme

Two real estate promoters were indicted by a grand jury in San Francisco this week as a result of investigations into the Devonshire Hills development west of San Carlos. Those indicted were John F. Humburg, president and Wallace Price, vice-president, respectively of the Municipal Properties Company, now in receivership. The indictment followed a year of litigation, and charges the two defendants with grand theft.

The grand jury brought in an indictment in the specific case of the sale of a piece of property in the Devonshire Hills property to M. J. Pfeiffer of Oakland. The investigation, however, covered all sales by the company. The first investigation was made in 1928 when it was found that hundreds of purchasers of lots in the tract had lost money on their purchases and had lost their property. The company then went into the hands of a receiver.

Rain Floods Cable Lines; 'Phones Out

Fire Engine Called To Free Lines
Of Water

Almost half of the telephones served by the Redwood City exchange were out of service Wednesday night due to the heavy rains Tuesday night. The trouble for the telephone company began Tuesday when the storm broke a 4000 volt line of the electric company on Whipple avenue. The high voltage line fell across the telephone cable and immediately put out of service all instruments served by that line.

Tuesday night the heavy rain flooded practically all of the conduits used to carry telephone cable and at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning the switchboard indicated 1250 telephones in Redwood City, including all of those served by the Woodside dial exchange to be dead.

The pumping apparatus used by the telephone company to pump water from the main holes proved to be entirely inadequate to cope with the situation, and a call for help was sent to the fire department. The department responded with one of the big pumping engines and within an hour had the system pumped free of water. Workmen were busy the remainder of the day putting the lines back into shape.

However, greater difficulty was experienced by the company engineers in locating the exact portion of the toll cable that was also damaged. It was not until the use of carbon dioxide gas was resorted to that the exact location of this break was found. The damaged portion of this cable, it was determined, extended about ten feet into the underground at Broadway and Webster streets. In order to make repairs it was necessary to first obtain permission from the city council granting authorization to open a part of the street. At 8:30 p. m. messengers were hurriedly sent to the homes of the various members of the council advising them of the trouble encountered.

A meeting of the council and telephone officials was immediately held. After discussing the various engineering features involved an inspection of the trouble was made by the council and the required permission granted.

Mayor Beeger stated at the time although it was not his desire to tear up the streets to effect repairs of this kind, he felt in view of there being no other way out, due consideration must be given to the public and the service it required. It being explained that repairs to the damaged cable could not be effected otherwise in less than two weeks time.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

San Jose's fifth annual Fiesta de las Rosas will be held on May 15, 16 and 17, with the magnificent floral parade as the climax to the fete on Saturday afternoon, May 17. Plans for staging an athletic event in conjunction with the fiesta are being considered. It is estimated that $15,000 is needed to finance the fiesta.

Hundreds of telephone poles in the Hayward downtown district are useless, with the installation of underground fire alarm wires. The new alarm system cost $3,300.

The San Mateo County Bank of Redwood City will award a contract shortly for the erection of a one-story concrete bank building, to be constructed at Minnie street and Upper Broadway. It will cost about $30,000. Albert F. Roller of San Francisco is the architect.

The San Francisco, Napa and Calaveras Railroad Company informed the Vallejo city council that it will abide by the order of the State Railroad Commission whereby the railroad and the city must bear jointly the expense of reconstructing the Sacramento street overhead bridge, provided the entire cost of the project does not exceed $13,100.

To carry forward the educational and construction program of the Modesto city schools for the next thirty years a total of $165,000 will be needed, according to figures arrived at by John H. Bradley, superintendent of schools. Of the sum specified, $220,000 will take care of the high school needs and $430,000 will be needed for the elementary schools. A tax of from 50 cents to 55 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in the high school district and one of 45 cents in the other district will take care of the situation.

Plans were completed for the installation of a lighting system in the Fresno State College Stadium, making possible the staging of the annual West Coast Relays as a night feature of the annual California Raisin Festival. A lighting system, to cost $8500, will be installed by the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce. The night relays will mark the first outdoor relay meet in the world, officials stated.

The traditional treaty by which General George Crook was alleged to have guaranteed perpetual hunting and fishing rights on the Pit River to the Indians of Pit Valley was just a letter of recommendation. This is the declaration of Colonel William Thompson, pioneer Indian fighter and now justice of the peace at Alturas, who is an authority on the early history of Modoc county. Thompson says he saw and read the letter when it was in the hands of his guardian, Chief Chip, thirty years ago. After the death of Chip it is said to have disappeared. At that time, Thompson says he translated the contents of the document to the chief, and urged that it be left with him for safe-keeping, but the chief refused to part with it. The Pit Indians acted as guides to the white soldiers in their battle with the snakes and the Plutes. Recently they have started a movement to have their memorial fishing and hunting rights restored.

It hardly seems possible, but there are twenty-four different ways in which whiskers may be worn. This was demonstrated when artists of the State Division of Architecture prepared sketches showing two dozen types or hirsute adornments. It was considered the latest thing in style charts for 1930 whisker modes. Facial trimmings as depicted in the charts will be adopted by state employees in a whisker contest for the days of '49 celebration to be held in Sacramento this year.

Modification of methods used for distribution among states of federal power commission fees, as ordered recently by the United States comptroller general, means an increase of more than $20,000 annually to California in its share of tax returns. Governor Young was advised recently. Under the present method of distribution fees collected by the government from power plant operations, California receives between $5000 and $6000 annually, which sum goes into the state's general fund. Congressman Harry L. Englebright, declared that the new method of distributing fees just ordered by the comptroller general means a substantial increase in allocations to the various states. "California will be the largest gainer, and with increasing power developments promises to afford a very substantial recompense to the state. This decision may be retroactive, and in this event California would be entitled to about $75,000 back payment."

With the first major round of 1930 scheduled for Red Bluff for April 26 and 27, stockholders of the Red Bluff Roundup Association will elect officers for the coming year. Many of the leading rodeo performers are seeking engagements.

The sugarcane mine, prolific gold producer of the Sonora section, has yielded another fortune. It was announced at Stockton. A pocket, just discovered, aggregated several thousands in free gold, it is claimed. The mine is being operated by Sugarman Mines, Inc., of which R. H. Nelson of Los Angeles is president.

The Vallejo City Council awarded the contract for the installation of the new reinforced concrete culvert in the Sonoma street extension to Contractor Louis Tagnon for $2654.50.

Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt announced that 887 officers and enlisted men of the California National Guard are to be presented with "100 per cent medals" for attending every one of the forty-eight drills and the two weeks of the training camp during 1929. This, he said, represents 16 per cent of the total State Guard strength.

After comparing figures, Long Beach claims the lowest pro rata fire loss of all California cities. Statistics on file there show the annual cost of the Long Beach fire department to be $450,000, compared with Sacramento $400,000, San Diego $300,000 and Pasadena $250,000.

Fresno children whose parents are financially unable to afford them hospital care will be given free treatment through the endowment of a five-bed ward at the Burnett Sanitarium, Dr. W. Trowbridge, secretary and manager of the hospital, announced. Children less than 12 years old will be permitted free to the ward, which will be supervised by Miss Esther Hart.

The directors of the Fifth Highway District voted to assess the State of California, through the Public Works Department, $7530 for the highway improvement between the Garquinez bridge and the Lila service station. Solano County will pay the additional $500. Work is to be started in a short time.

Danger of the rapid spread of fire, once it starts in California timber, grain, brush or grass lands, was clearly demonstrated by State Forester M. B. Pratt in a summary of 1929 conflagrations. Out of 3,468 fires outside national forests, he said, 756 covered a quarter of an acre or less, 1,297 involved from a quarter of an acre to ten acres, and all the rest, 1,415, burned over areas in excess of ten acres.

In Mendocino county alone there were 153 of these larger fires out of a total of 198 of all classes during the year. Extension of the Kettleman Hills natural gas lines to the foothill country was seen in surveys completed for a line from Sacramento to Roseville, Auburn and Colfax, and projected to Grass Valley and Nevada City. The latter two communities have been supplied with fuel gas, manufactured from crude oil, for more than twenty-five years, being served by one of the original units of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company system.

Piling a brief in federal court the Southern Pacific put forward another reason for its contention that the city of Willow Glen, near San Jose, can't stop the railroad from extending its right of way through that city. According to the brief, the railroad has what it regards as a federal franchise to operate in Willow Glen, issued on October 11, 1928, by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Delhi colonists have been granted an extension of 60 days to work out a substitute proposal for Plan W for retirement of the state from colony affairs, the State Land Settlement Board announced. The board stated that it did not commit itself to any substitute, but agreed to consider any plans, provided Assemblyman E. G. Adams of Livingston assumed responsibility for its development and that colonists petition for formation of an improvement district to take over the colony's irrigation system for operation this season.

Official steps for the establishment of "marriage clinics" in California were taken with the filing of corporation papers with the Secretary of State. To be known as the Institute of Family Relations, with headquarters at Los Angeles, the organization proposes "to establish clinics for the public dispensing of scientific information and advice to married persons and others considering marriage concerning the personal problems of mating, and reproduction."

California homes and farms of $34,498,671 total value have been purchased for 7216 war veterans through the state veterans' welfare board since 1921. George M. Stout, secretary of the board, said. Homes purchased numbered 6927 at a total cost of $32,823,535, or an average of $4738. The cost of 239 farms was $1,585,136, an average of $5484, according to figures released by Mr. Stout. A proposal to issue an additional $20,000,000 bond for this veterans' aid will be balloted upon at the November election. According to Stout, this money would assist 5000 more veterans to obtain homes and farms through the state on a long time repayment plan.

"Star route" mail contracts from Nevada City, center of the mountain distribution, were awarded to Frank Davies on the Alleghegan area, packing in North Columbia, and Stephen Matto on the Graniteville road, including North Bloomfield. No bids were accepted on the Washington or Downsville contracts. Automobiles, wagons, sleighs, horses and even man power is used to carry the mail through on schedule during the year.

Tom Wasson, Fresno rancher, has captured a wild horse of the plains west of Tulare. Lake and is breaking the horse for saddle purposes. Wasson and a friend of his drove out onto the plains in a fast car, located the horse, one of a half dozen still left on the plains, and lassoed it after a chase of 16 miles. Wasson drove continuously after the horse at a speed ranging from 36 to 65 miles an hour. The horse, after circling the car, ran in a straight line toward the foothills.

With the first major round of 1930 scheduled for Red Bluff for April 26 and 27, stockholders of the Red Bluff Roundup Association will elect officers for the coming year. Many of the leading rodeo performers are seeking engagements.

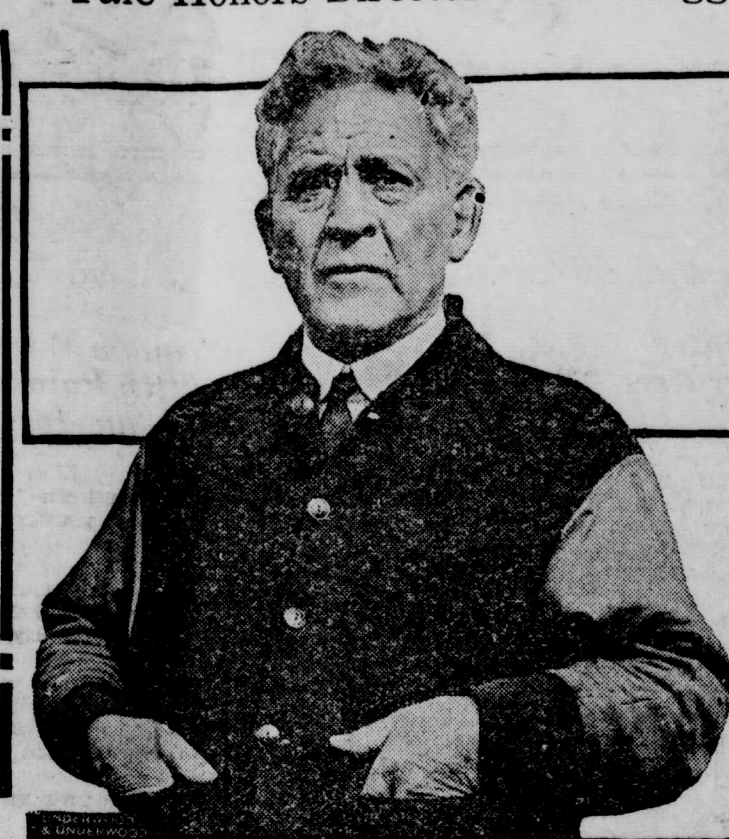

The sugarcane mine, prolific gold producer of the Sonora section, has yielded another fortune. It was announced at Stockton. A pocket, just discovered, aggregated several thousands in free gold, it is claimed. The mine is being operated by Sugarman Mines, Inc., of which R. H. Nelson of Los Angeles is president.

The Vallejo City Council awarded the contract for the installation of the new reinforced concrete culvert in the Sonoma street extension to Contractor Louis Tagnon for $2654.50.

Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt announced that 887 officers and enlisted men of the California National Guard are to be presented with "100 per cent medals" for attending every one of the forty-eight drills and the two weeks of the training camp during 1929. This, he said, represents 16 per cent of the total State Guard strength.

Installation of 190 new markers and signs on the Redwood Highway in Sonoma county was under way. The work is being done under direction of the California State Automobile Association.

Yale Honors Director A. A. Stagg

The University of Chicago football team will return in 1932 the visit of Yale to the Midway in 1931, Director A. A. Stagg announces. Yale is departing from policy in coming to the Midway next year and that game will be the first that a Blue team has ever played in the Middle West. The decision to come to Chicago was in recognition of Mr. Stagg's forty years of "significant service to the best interests of college athletics."

Director Stagg is a graduate of Yale and in the late 80s was one of its greatest athletes.

Skating Marvel

Jack Shea, Lake Placid high school boy, and present North American champion, who tied the world's record for the 220-yard dash on the opening day of the North American Skating championship meet at Lake Placid, Pa. covered the distance in the record time of 18 1/2 seconds.

Sport Notes

The various players tried at short-stop last year batted only 200 for Cleveland.

Walter Hagen has been in competitive golf and nationally prominent for more than 20 years.

Football is becoming a popular sport in Hawaii. Native boys play the game in their bare feet.

Upsala, Rutgers and Penn military college are new football teams on Johns Hopkins' 1930 schedule.

Nedo Nadi, Italian fencer now visiting this country, has been the champion of Europe for nearly 20 years.

Any calculation of the Italian navy, in London, must take into consideration that this boxer Carnera's shoes are 21's.

Four former Coast leaguers will be with Pittsburgh this year. They are the Waner brothers, Gus Suhr and Ray Kremer.

Bill Tilden lost a tennis match on the Riviera because his mind was on a bridge problem. It seems our ace was trumped.

In case of taking up ski jumping for the first time, a friend advises us, be nonchalant: Light 40 or 50 cigarettes in rapid succession.

Mary Brown, recently restored to amateur standing as a golfer, is the only woman who ever achieved prominence both in tennis and on the links.

It was never discovered what they did about the first chap who made a ski jump, although we suppose there were probate courts in those days, the same as now.

On completion of his nineteenth year as professional at the Houston Country club, Willie Maguire was presented with a life membership and a check for $1,000.

Eddie Wineapple of Salem, Mass., well known in New England as a baseball and basketball star, has signed as a pitcher with Washington. He is a southpaw.

Dr. Max Kraus, president of the Hinkoh Soccer club, served a rigorous campaign as captain in the Hungarian army years ago, and since then has never worn a hat or overcoat.

A record crowd for a soccer match in Glasgow turned out for the recent Scottish football association cup game, when Glasgow Rangers eliminated Queen's Park eleven by 1 to 0 before 95,722 fans.

Sport Conversation Is

Now Universally Used

Casual statisticians estimate there are 50,000,000 persons in the United States of America interested in sports.

We believe them. When the boss of any job wants to give his employees a little inspiration he says, "Come on, now, and hit the ball."

Another, who is trying to organize or consolidate, says—"If you want to play ball with me."

Another boss, unstinted in his praise, will greet a new idea with—"Yea, that's a knockout."

The one who counts his chicks beforehand in a business deal will borrow these words to describe it—"It's in the bag."

A universal language—concise and descriptive.

Pretty Fair Backfield

Among Cleveland Stars

A pretty fair sort of backfield could be tossed together among the members of the Cleveland Indians. Bruce Caldwell was an All-American half-back at Yale. Eddie Morgan wasn't All-American, but they say down in New Orleans that he was by no means the world's worst when he wore the Green of Tulane. Jonah Goldman was a sweet little back at Syracuse, where he and Vic Hanson divided the job of snaring the spectacular passes of Hal Haysinger. Johnny Burnett, a streak on his feet, played plenty of halfback for Florida. Joe and Luke Sewell were backfield performers on Ken Scott's Alabama eleven.

Carnera Is Expensive

on Clothing and Feed

Carnera's feet are 20 inches long and therefore his shoes cost a lot of money.

In fact, everything he wears costs a lot of money because it takes considerable material and a special job. He's twice as big as the average man and therefore eats at least twice as much.

He can't sleep in a regular sized bed. That's another expense.

A rather expensive young man, this Italian who wants to be heavyweight champion of the world.

The promoters ought to pay him a little extra—about $10 extra per show.

Tony Cuts 'Em Up

Tony Lazzeri, star shortstop of the New York Yankees, showing how he keeps in shape for the coming season. Since Tony broke into the big leagues he has been a star and one of the mainstays of the Yankees. He says he is in fine shape and will be up there with the best of them.

Evers Seeks Job

Johnny Evers, Jr., son of the pivot member of the famous Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chase combination of the old Chicago Cubs, is the leading candidate for the second base job on the Georgetown university baseball team.

Young Evers, who is described as a smooth, fast thinking fielder, is a sophomore and this will be his first chance at the varsity. Last season he guarded the keystone sack for the freshmen. He is a good batter. Evers is eighteen.

MAJORS SPENDING MONEY IN MINORS

New York Yankees Drop $20,000 at Chambersburg.

A checkup in the Blue Ridge league for the season of 1929 reveals the enormous amount of money that the major leagues are expending in maintaining farms. Conditions in the Blue Ridge circuit differ somewhat but not radically from other leagues in the country, especially those below the Class A classification.

Cleveland at Frederick dropped $21,000; the Yanks at Chambersburg, $20,000; the Athletics at Martinsburg, $11,000, and the Cardinals at Waynesboro, $7,000.

Hanover received $5,000 from Detroit, and also lost considerable more. Hagerstown had to be helped out to the extent of $3,000 to retain its franchise, and the club management also lost considerable.

Cleveland, the Yanks, Athletics and Cardinals spent well in trying out young ball players. Apparently they tried out every youngster recommended. They paid these players' fares both ways, and the big majority of them hardly remained overnight in the town to which club they reported.

Whitcomb and Boojam, leading juveniles in 1929, will not run in the Kentucky derby next May, Tom Healy, trainer for H. P. Whitney, announces.

The Whitney pair were favorites in the winter books on the derby.

Whitcomb led the money winners among the juveniles last year, earning $135,455 for Whitney. Boojam was the third best money-maker among the 1929 two-year-olds, bringing in $57,650.

J. R. Adoue, wealthy Dallas banker, was placed fifth in the official ranking of Texas tennis players for 1929. He is forty-seven years old. Only Berkeley Bell, University of Texas star, and three others rate ahead of him.

Five feet five inches tall and weighing only 124 pounds, Earl Jansen, one of the smallest athletes in St. Louis prep circles, has won 13 letters in track, baseball, basketball and football at Cleveland high school.

Pete Donohue of the Reds has just got married. Maybe his battle with Hack Wilson was merely a training stunt.

To promote interest in wrestling and to honor Cornell's veteran wrestling coach, Walter F. O'Connell, who has brought ten intercollegiate championships to the university, eight medals will be awarded annually to those members of the wrestling squad who have given their best efforts to the sport and have not been able to win their letter or the university championship medal. According to the announcement which was made by Thomas L. S. Bank, '14, of Seneca Falls, former intercollegiate champion, the medals were underwritten by Charles K. Bassett, '14, of Buffalo, N. Y., a former member of the wrestling squad.

One of the entertaining features of the sales of publicity now being sent out concerning Primo Carnera is the frantic effort to find some sort of popular nickname for the phenom with the No. 16 shoes and the No. 7 hat.

It's a quaint old custom of the ring, this business of making a fighter affectionately known by anything else except his real name. It goes clear back to ye olde John L. Sullivan, who preferred to be known as the "Boston Strong Boy," and followed the sport down through the modern Wild Bulls of the Pampas, the Big Rocks from Down Under, the Manassa Maulers, and the like. These were expressive and became more or less popular. But in the case of Carnera the attempts so far seem to have been a melancholy bust. Right now, lacking anything better in the way of an inspiration, they're trying to make Carnera known to the polloi as the "Dinosaur of the Dolomites."

The pitching and not the lively ball is responsible for the run of slugging, according to Bobby Quinn, president of the Boston Americans. Quinn is widely known in the Association, having handled the reins of the Columbus club for many years. Columbus men are interested with him in the ownership of the Boston club.

"The pitching is more to blame for heavy hitting than the lively ball," says Quinn. "When a pitcher has control you do not see any runaway score. The first game of the World's series is an example. The ball did not prove very lively that day. Of course, when you get a pitcher who can't pitch it where he wants to, and when the batter takes a toe-hold, you're going to see some long-distance hitting."

Boston's regular first basemen, Phil Todd, of the Red Sox, and George Slater, of the Braves, will have to hustle to keep out Bill Sweeney and Johnny Neum this spring.

Horton Smith on one occasion said that his major vice was missing short putts.

Bobby Jones says that short putts are what you have to worry about on the green, not the long ones.

Great putters are the boys who consistently sink putts within a radius of three feet.

Great golfers have to be able to sink the kind of putts that dub golfers expect opponents to concede to them.

The series of football games between Cornell and Princeton, which was resumed in 1927, has been extended to include the seasons of 1931 and 1932. The Cornell games will be played on the third Saturday in October in those years.

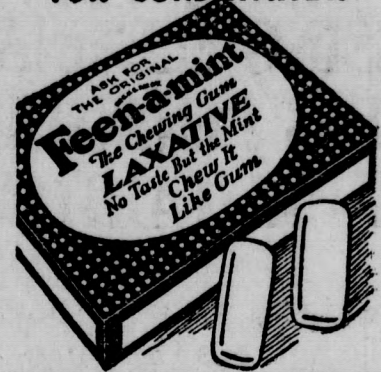

Cornell will play at Princeton on October 18 next fall, in accordance with the present two-game home-and-home agreement.

In 1931 Princeton will go to Ithaca and the following year Cornell will go to Princeton.

At a dinner in Hollywood for the visiting British journalists, J. T. Collins, editor of an Australian paper, found himself sitting beside Charley Chaplin but did not recognize him. The Australian introduced himself and asked his neighbor's name. Charley looked a bit startled, but finally confessed that he was Charley Chaplin. Don't neglect a COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

Working like the trained hands of a masseur, this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. It penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses. Keep Musterole handy—jars and tubes.

Garfield Tea

Was Your Grandmother's Remedy

For every stomach and intestinal ill. This good old-fashioned herb home remedy cures constipation, stomach ills and other derangements of the system so prevalent these days is in even greater favor as a family medicine than in your grandmother's day.

The expressions "fatally wounded" and "mortally wounded" are commonly used to express the same thing, but mortally is regarded by some as meaning suffering death at the time of, or soon after, the wounding, while fatally wounded conveys the idea that death followed after a considerable lapse of time.

Nellie—No, mamma, I still need a policeman for the cook.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all druggists.

The Value of Business Concerns to a Community

Almost all of us, at some time or other, have given some thought to the value of having a good business, located in a good town. How many of us, however, have considered the value to the town, of having a good business located in the town?

Lack of intelligent understanding on this point, by the people who live in a community, is often a chief cause for the failure of that town to attain OUTSTANDING SUCCESS.

The support that business institutions receive from the community in which they are located determines the amount of success they can achieve as individual businesses AS WELL AS the amount OF SERVICE THEY CAN RENDER THAT COMMUNITY. Without the support of their community, business concerns cannot exist.

We wouldn't be so interested; it wouldn't mean so much to many of us, IF IT WERE NOT FOR THE FACT THAT THE BUSINESS INSTITUTIONS OF ANY COMMUNITY are THE HEART of that community! And unless the business institutions make outstanding successes, the town cannot hope to make an outstanding success. Cannot hope to grow and prosper as it should, and must!

There are DEFINITE REASONS why business concerns are of such value to their town. Here are a few of them:

1. Business concerns pay the majority of the taxes in a community, and, therefore, furnish the largest part of the revenue for the support and improvement of the town.
2. Business concerns furnish most of the employment for the 37 per cent of the people who are gainfully employed, and who in turn support the other 63 per cent.
3. Business concerns furnish most of the energy and brains which go into progressive movements for the benefit and up-building of the community.
4. Business concerns are the service stations which supply the needs and pleasures of the community, and the stronger these businesses are, the more service they can render the town.
5. Business men are mainly the contact men with outside concerns and people, and in a large measure, make up the personality of the town.
6. The appearance of the business district is the part of the city which has the most effect on outsiders, and from which their good impression of the town is derived.

These are just a few. Many other points could be enumerated on the value of business concerns to the community. But additional points would be superfluous. We are all intelligent, and can grasp the importance of the business concerns to any community, and the value of giving them utmost support.

If you have a financial or sentimental interest in YOUR community, IT WILL PAY YOU to patronize your local concerns!

Business and professional interests ask only for the support of the community in order that they in turn may help support and build the community. This is one of the vital factors in the development of

State Treasurer Warns Against Stock Speculation

If the average wage earner would content himself with building up a comfortable account in the bank rather than trying to make a "big killing" in a stock deal, he would be far more prosperous in the long run. This is the opinion of Charles G. Johnson, state treasurer, who says common sense should govern the matter of small investments.

"California is a wealthy and prosperous state," said Johnson. Its working classes earn good salaries, ride in automobiles, own their own homes, radio sets, electric washing machines and other things that have elevated their standards of living.

"What is most needed right now is a campaign of education to teach the average man not to yield to the foolish temptation of speculation. From another point of view, it is nothing but gambling—taking a long chance to get something for nothing. Fortunes are not made in that way."

Johnson believes that every parent should instill into his children the wisdom of saving their pennies and nickels, and to watch the money mount to a comfortable sum in the savings bank.

"I do not wish to be understood as opposed to all types of investments," said Johnson, "but I do believe that the average man should be much more conservative in his handling of money than the wealthy man who can afford to take his losses."

"I cannot see why a person with only a few hundred or a few thousands of dollars laid away should gamble in the stock market, which is a game in which only about 3 percent known how to play and the other 97 percent lose."

Johnson commends the principal of the nation wide thrift movement, which is "an educational endeavor, the object of which is to help the individual and the family to think straight and act wisely in the use of money in the realms of earning, spending, saving and investing and giving." The basis of this movement, which Johnson says is sound is: Work and earn; make a budget; record expenditures; have a bank account; own life insurance; own your home; make a will; invest in safe securities; pay bills promptly, and share with others.

Suggestions for the Home Town Merchant

There are a few things that the modern merchant must do if he is going to compete in these scientific times; watch the price on his line of stock, buy what the customers tell him to buy, keep his store orderly and clean. Business is going down hill when merchants allow their stores to become disorderly and dirty.

The Lord so fixed things that brains are not a matter of geography, you're as apt to have them as someone in New York. This is the day of the survival of the fittest. Weak stores go out first; weak persons go out first in the stores. Today merchants survive just so long as they can meet modern competition. They must study modern scientific ways and then if they are unfit they must go out with the consolation that those who follow are giving people what they want in service, the goods they want and at the price they want to pay.

No merchant can survive who furnishes goods on credit to irresponsible persons. Many of our old-time merchants, and God bless 'em, have more bad accounts on their books than they have merchandise on their shelves.

Standardizing Cities

There are 841 cities in the United States which have zoning ordinances in operation and in all probabilities the list will include a total of 1,000 cities before the end of 1930. Ten years ago there were only 38 cities with zoning ordinances.

"But this is only a part of the picture," says a bulletin of the United States Chamber of Commerce. "City plan commissions have been established in 751 cities and regional plan commissions in 18."

"Comprehensive city plans have been laid out or started in 326 cities. In 208 cities comprehensive thoroughfare plans have been started or completed."

"In 161 cities, park plans have been started or completed, and in 155 playgrounds have been established or are under way."

"The city of the future will not be the product of circumstance. It will, apparently, be built according to a definite pattern."

Business Conditions

"When you get right down to the bottom of things, and get the real facts, you will find that most businesses are doing about as much, and, in many cases, more than they have ever done before. Take almost any financial statement at the end of last year, and you will find more business done than in the preceding twelve months. Nearly every firm in the city is doing better now than they were two months ago. Times are coming around to normalcy again. More application to business, more economy and harder work will bring anyone out of the woods."

We read that a Midwestern town is instituting curfew bell. The item did not say whether it was for the old folks or the youngsters.

Murphy were outstanding for the Exchange and Lowe and Alexander for the Postoffice.

The game next week between the Exchange and the Kiwanis will be watched with much interest by all as the Kiwanians have a team, which although it has been defeated during this round, on an evening when two of their mainstays were absent, is mighty hard to beat.

Another hard fought game was that between the Profs and the Lions, which ended 40 to 41 in favor of the Profs. From the very start the game was hard fought but the teamwork of the Profs gave them the long end of the score.

The Kiwanians had a good game with the Titles but the killing of the Hedges spelled defeat by a score of 0 to 32.

The All Stars took the Bank of Italy into tow by the score of 42 to 15. During the first quarter of play the teams were running close but in the second quarter by well placed shots the All Stars began having things their own way. The Yomecans won from the Engineers by default.

A team from San Mateo and Burlingame made up mostly of teachers in the public schools of these cities played a pick-up team made up principally of Yomecans which the former won by a score of 30 to 28.

During the passed week the Post-office team played the Hayward Business Men's Volleyball Team, winning from them by a good score.

Redwood Man Held Following Auto Crash

As the result of an accident which occurred near the intersection of Laurel avenue and the Middlefield road, Gerald Shields, 225 Grand street, Redwood City, was arrested by Officer Douglas on a charge of driving while drunk.

Shields was driving south on the Middlefield road. Near the Laurel street crossing his car collided with one driven by Miss L. Smith, 176 Lee avenue, San Francisco. Both cars were damaged by the crash. In the car with Miss Smith were Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Lord, 625 Powell street, San Francisco.

Miss Smith told the investigating officer that she was going along the Middlefield road when she saw the other car approaching headed straight for her. She could not turn out of the way, and the other car struck the front left-hand side of her machine.

Shields was slightly injured and received treatment from Dr. Mason, who was called by the arresting officer to testify to the man's condition. He was released on posting $1000 bond bail.

Electric Rate Reduction

$2,400,000.00 Saving to Consumers

Now, electric rates for consumers of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company are reduced over Two Million, Four Hundred Thousand Dollars a year.

Lighting rates are cut to a maximum rate of 4½ cents per kilowatt hour for incorporated areas, with a similar reduction in all areas.

The new rates are of greatest benefit to the small consumer—the residence user, stores and offices. Substantial reductions have been made in commercial, industrial and agricultural power rates. Street lighting rates are reduced.

Domestic combination rates for consumers using lighting service and in addition having electric appliances for heating and/or cooking, are as low as 1½ cents per kilowatt hour. The new commercial lighting schedules provide for lighting rates as low as 2 cents per kilowatt-hour.

These new schedules providing lower electric rates are designed to encourage liberal usage of electricity at low cost. The new rates are among the lowest obtainable anywhere.

ELECTRICITY IS CHEAPER — YOU CAN USE MORE — MAKE IT YOUR SERVANT

Let electricity brighten the gloomy corners. Let it do the cooking, ironing, washing. Let it sweep the floors, operate the electric fan, drive away chills. It will percolate the coffee, make the toast, keep food warm or cool and wholesome.

Modern electric appliances bring comfort, convenience and economy.

Exchange Nose Out Post Office In Volleyball

In a hot contest for top place in the Business Men's Volleyball League at the high school gym last Thursday evening the Exchange Club came out the victors over the Postoffice men by a single point, the final score being 42 to 41.

In the first two periods of the game the Exchange had things its own way, it looking like a walk away. At the end of the first period the score stood 14 to 4 in favor of the Exchange and at the end of the half they had strengthened their lead to 30 to 11. Shortly after the second half the Postoffice men started a rally and a team work from which it looked as though the Exchange Club would not recover. Piling the points up one after another, the Postoffice men raised their score to a five point lead over the Exchange. It was only in the last few minutes of play that the Exchange got back on their feet and when the last whistle blew the ball was in the air on a serve by the Exchange with the score, standing 41 to 41. According to the rules of the league, if the ball is in the air the point must be played out. On this play the Postoffice men were unable to return the ball, giving the point to the Exchange which decided the game. Robinson and

IT IS part of the telephone ideal that anyone, anywhere, shall be able to talk quickly and at reasonable cost with anyone, anywhere else. Expressed in telephones, wire, cable, switchboards, central offices, trained personnel it means an incredible expenditure of effort and a huge investment of savings of the public. In a single year the Bell System makes an outlay, for new plant and service improvements, of more than 550 million dollars.

A public address system has been installed so that everyone will be able to hear the entire out-of-doors program.

James P. Hearne, president of the Redwood City Retailers, will open the program and will introduce Al Davies as master of ceremonies, who will introduce the acts.

At this point the Sequoia Union High School band will play the opening selection, followed by Henry Henrick and his College Entertainers, who will play popular dance

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR TO SEEK RE-ELECTION

H. L. Carnahan Linked With Gov. Young
In Coming State Campaign; Seeks To Control Southern Vote

By Homer L. Roberts

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 6th (UP)—Lieutenant-Governor H. L. Carnahan of Los Angeles will be a candidate for reelection at the August primary, as running-mate of Governor C. C. Young.

This is learned by the United Press from reliable sources, although Carnahan has as yet made no definite commitment. His decision, it is understood, came as a result of his close personal friendship for Governor Young and a desire to see the governor's policies in state government continued for another year.

Carnahan made a splendid record in the 1929 legislature, both as presiding officer of the state senate and of the impeachment trial of Judge Carlos S. Hardy, accused of accepting a $2,500 check from Amee Semple McPherson. Carnahan's rulings, many of which will stand as precedents for future trials of this nature, received commendation from leading jurists.

Realizing that the battle for the governorship will be fought in Southern California, Governor Young is strengthening his position in that section by many of his recent appointments.

Outstanding among these was C. C. Teague of Santa Paula, President Hoover's California representative on the federal farm board, whom the governor named on the University of California board of regents. Teague, it will be remembered, was a member of the California Agricultural Experiment Station.

but he dispelled the report with a positive statement that he would not seek that post. Teague succeeded Ralph P. Merritt of Fresno, whose term expired. Merritt rapped the governor's statement that Teague was selected to give a more equitable balance on the board between the north and south, saying, "I feel that in his attitude that geographical location is the only reason for selection. Governor Young has cast an aspersions upon the San Joaquin Valley, the people of which have loyally supported him."

Will C. Wood, former state superintendent of banks, who resigned in order to leave the state on a trip to South America, has returned home to announce that "I shall enter with enthusiasm and great interest in the campaign for Governor Young's reelection." Wood will be reappointed March 15, at which time Albert A. Resenshine, attorney for the division, tenders his resignation from the post, which he accepted temporarily to permit Wood's trip.

A successor to Frank Benson of Los Angeles as chief of the division of narcotic law enforcement is being sought by Governor Young. It was made known here this week, Senator Benson, who is in ill health, has asked the governor to be relieved and his resignation, it is understood, is now in the executive hands.

Two new political rumors. John L. McNab of San Francisco may be a candidate to succeed United States Senator Samuel L. Shortridge, whose term expires in two years; and former Governor Friend W. Richardson may seek the toga of Senator Hiram W. Johnson in the event that Johnson is a candidate for reelection in 1934.

ZEPHYRS

—from the—
Fashion Trade Winds

The wave of blue rolls up the Avenue in New York and up the Avenue in every city and town throughout the nation. The crest is reflected in today's dominating color note—"New blue and white."

Smart shops everywhere are showing new blue . . . dresses, coats, hats, ensembles, suits, bags and small accessories.

It is very interesting to note that the popular priced stores are right in line. And it is very difficult to differentiate from the more expensive and the popular priced, but effective, garments.

Equally popular with blues is the trend toward black and red. There are frocks of solid black, solid red, black and red prints and black and white prints. And the importance of the black hats cannot be over-emphasized—both in felt and felt combined with straw.

Printed flat crepes and chiffons hold the center of the stage. Among the favored designs are polka dots, twin polka dots, cherry prints, and combinations of large and small prints which are finding their way to your fashion departments.

Featuring the new dresses are noted clever dipping backs, swirling skirts, long slender silhouettes, high-waisted Princess effects and accented pleated shoulder scarfs featured in early presentations.

Among the dresses, black holds its own, especially in lace effects, and lace and chiffon combinations, all of which are in the spring lines.

And, speaking about lace, the new "cocktail" jackets are the last word in lace frocks.

Smart fabrics for spring coats include Lacey Tweds, Plain and Trico Broadcloths, Fleecy Wools, Camel's Hair effects and reminiscent of the gay 90's Covert Cloth.

Silver Spray is employed in new colors and new fabrics. It is just about the naist word in effects.

The belted coats are distinctly Russian.

Probably the three most popular dress models are Boleros, Cape effects and Ensembles.

New sleeve treatments include the short puff sleeve, the bell sleeve with flare effect, and the always modish tight sleeve.

New hats of felt and straw are coyly reminiscent of sun bonnets; up in front to show eyes and forehead; down at the sides to cover the cheeks.

Straw lace, developed in the new millinery, is especially modish.

"ANNA CHRISTIE"—GRETA
GARBO'S FIRST TALKIE

Swedish Star Will Open Sunday for Two Days at Sequoia Theatre in Long-Awaited O'Neill Drama

"Anna Christie," Greta Garbo's long awaited first all-talking production, will be presented by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Sunday and Monday at the Sequoia Theatre. The picture which was adapted by Frances Marion from Eugene O'Neill's celebrated play was directed by Clarence Brown, responsible for the production of two of Miss Garbo's past successes, "Flesh and the Devil" and "A Woman of Affairs." The supporting cast includes Charles Bickford, George F. Marion, Marie Dressler, James T. Mack and Lee Phelps.

It is stated that Miss Garbo entered upon her first talking role without the slightest hesitation despite considerable anxiety upon the part of both producers and public in connection with her voice, which is said to be characterized by a slightly Swedish accent. It is further stated that studio consternation was no little increased when Miss Garbo refused to take a voice test. That she must have been possessed with the utmost confidence in regard to her voice qualifications is indicated by the report that once in front of the microphone, Miss Garbo broke all existing records for unbroken length of talking sequence, her very first scene running almost nine minutes and using up nearly 1000 feet of film, which is the capacity load for camera magazines.

The worry over microphone hazards once over, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer went ahead with extensive preparations for the production which is expected to set a new example for artistry on the screen. Particular stress was laid on the waterfront settings which play an important part in the drama. Strict adherence to actual conditions was demanded in portraying the old cobblestone paving on West street against which the barge docks out, the background of grim warehouses and gas tanks, the gaudy saloons, the horse-drawn drays and other characteristic details of the time.

An old barge was acquired and refitted to conform with O'Neill's description with its cabin containing the typical tin wash basin, oil lamp, stove, gramophone, rickety table and stuffy bunkhouse.

A reproduction of a section of Coney Island was built showing the beer gardens, Eden Musee, merry-go-round, shooting gallery and side shows, the whole made more vivid by inclusion of the clatter and din common to the surroundings.

From all advance indications, "Anna Christie" with its three-star combination of O'Neill, Brown and Garbo, should be one of the biggest drawing cards of the year.

Local Librarian's
Biography Told In Library Journal

The Library Journal, published in New York, in its issue of February 15, published the following article concerning Miss Wilhelmina Harper, who at the present time is connected with the Redwood City Public Library, particularly in connection with children's work:

Wilhelmina Harper was born in Farmington, Me., the daughter of the assistant principal of the State Normal School. During her school years a literary profession was not her "chosen profession;" her aim then was to become a teacher of physical education. She was always more fond of athletics than anything else, and was captain of the champion girls' basketball team of Flushing, N. Y. High School. Finally she chose a library career and took two special courses in story telling at Teachers College (Columbia University), special courses in literature at New York University, work in the New York State Library, and at the time when the library was under the administration of Jessie Fremont Hume. For ten years she was the Queens Borough Public Library as a children's librarian, helping to develop children's work in the fast-growing branches, conducting story hours, giving talks in public schools, instructing classes in the use of the library, organizing clubs for boys and girls, and as a branch librarian. She resigned to enter war work and was first assistant at the Pelham Bay, N. Y., Naval Training Station until she went overseas to Brest, France, as library organizer for Y. M. C. A. and later as assistant to Edward C. Carter, director of Y. M. C. A. overseas service.

Upon her return to the United States she went to California and was the first county children's librarian to be appointed in the state. For six years she was supervisor and organizer of children's work in Kern County Free Library at Bakersfield, Cal., but resigned to become consulting children's librarian in an independent capacity, with headquarters at Palo Alto. She has been instructor in children's literature at the University of California Library School and at the San Jose Teachers College.

NEW CONSTITUTION TO

Constitutional Convention Called For By Proposition No. 4, Sponsored By Senator T. C. West

By Homer L. Roberts

SACRAMENTO, CAL., March 6th (UP)—Calling of a constitutional convention, at which a new constitution for the State of California would be framed is probably the most outstanding amendment referred to the people for ratification by the 1928 legislature.

This proposal, to appear on the ballot November 4, was introduced by Senator T. C. West of Alameda. It calls for a constitutional convention election before September 1932, at which 120 delegates would be chosen from senate and assembly districts. These delegates would be required to meet within three months after the election.

Other constitutional amendments originating in the state senate, to be voted upon next November, and their authors, are as follows:

No. 6 Exempting from taxation hospitals and sanatoriums not conducted for profit. Joint authors, Senator J. J. Crowley, San Francisco and Senator E. A. Mullen, San Diego.

No. 8 Providing that municipal charters and amendments may be ratified either at a special election or general election. Senator Herbert W. Slater, Santa Rosa.

No. 9 Exempting from taxation the public library and art gallery of the late Henry E. Huntington at Pasadena. Senator Frank C. Weller, Glendale.

No. 11 Empowering the legislature to include in any department of the executive branch of state government established by the constitution, and to provide representation therefor in the governor's council, through director of the department. Senator Ralph E. Swine, San Bernardino.

No. 17 Requiring taxation by the state of marine insurance companies.

San Mateo Spur Halted by Court

The Western Pacific Company was successful on Friday in securing a final injunction against the further construction by the Southern Pacific of a spur track across the Western Pacific right of way near San Mateo. The injunction was granted in the court of Federal Judge Kerrigan, in San Francisco.

The decree was handed down by the federal judge enjoins the Southern Pacific from constructing the spur which has been the cause of an extended legal battle. The demands of the Western Pacific that an injunction be made against the construction of all spur tracks across the right of way of the railroad's proposed peninsula lines failed to win the favor of the judge.

The controversy between the two railroads over the spur track began a year ago when the Southern Pacific constructed secretly an "orphan" spur across the proposed peninsula line of the Western Pacific. The spur was not connected with any other track, and was considered by the Western Pacific as an attempt to block the construction of the proposed line along the peninsula.

The matter was taken to court by the Western Pacific, and a long battle followed, ended by the present decision of Judge Kerrigan. As the "orphan" spur also crossed the route of the Bayshore highway, the matter was taken to the railroad commission by the California Board of Public Works. The railroad commission ruled that if the spur remains that a grade separation must be built to carry the highway. Half of the cost of this separation must be paid by the Southern Pacific, the remainder by the state.

GOLD MOTHER PASSES IN SAN FRANCISCO

Mrs. Elizabeth Kilduff, 75, a native of Mass., passed away at her San Francisco address last Wednesday evening. She left relatives in Arkansas.

Mrs. Kilduff was a member of San Francisco Chapter of Gold Star Mothers of America, she having lost a son in the late war. She was a very lovable person and her many friends mourned her loss. She had anticipated the trip to France to visit her son's grave, but her health failed rapidly the last few months.

The Gold Star Mothers officiated, performing the solemn but beautiful ceremonies. The mascot of the San Francisco Gold Star Mothers, Viola Maysenhalder of Redwood City, offered a beautiful solo during the services at the St. Paul's Episcopal church in San Francisco. From there the body was taken to Cypress Lawn Crematory.

"Wives" Seek Villa's Estate

Mexico City.—Three women, each claiming to be the wife of Pancho Villa, are now engaged in a battle over the estate of the most notorious bandit in the modern history of Mexico. Villa "married" four wives during his career, and then when he was assassinated died without making a will. The first of the four women died before Villa did, and the survivors now are contending for possession of his ranch properties in the northern part of the country.

A man who has more than one wife is just as much a bigamist in the eyes of the law in Mexico as he would be in most other countries, so the courts refuse to recognize the claim of any one of the three women. It is likely that the estate will be divided among the closest blood relatives of the dead bandit, and then they may do as they please about the "wives" of Villa. Strange claims are advanced by the three women.

The first asserts that Villa married her before he did the other two and that, therefore, she has first claim. The second declares that Villa spent more of his time with her than with the others, and the third asserts that Villa loved her best of all. All three women claim the name of Villa. One is Luz Corral de Villa, the second is Juana Torres de Villa, and the last is Aureberta Renteria de Villa. The women are all past middle age, and none of them has any children.

SAILING ON

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The story is told in the life of Christopher Columbus that as they drifted on from day to day in the little frail boats in which he and his companions were attempting to cross an unknown and uncharted sea, the superstitious sailors were frightened at seeing no land, nor any signs of land, and were on the verge of mutiny. Columbus held them together; he calmed their fears; he gained their interest and their co-operation, and on the night following one of the nearest approaches to complete mutiny, he wrote in his diary: "This day we sailed on!"

Discouragement, disappointment, no apparent nearing of the goal for which they had almost blindly set out, but sailing on! Possibly it is darkest before daylight, but in the face of failure it takes determination and courage to continue.

General Grant, who was in charge of the northern forces toward the end of our Civil war, had laid out for himself and his armies a plan of procedure. It involved hard fighting and a high mortality of his troops. His plan seemed to many people pretty much a hopeless one. Success did not come to him at once; there were disastrous losses which looked very much like failure. He was questioned as to the wisdom of his plan.

"I shall fight it out on this line," was his reply, "if it takes all summer."

Sailing on in the face of storm and high waves and reverse winds! And in the end he won.

A freshman dropped in on me yesterday. He had set sail in his intellectual barque a few weeks ago, and now he was ready to turn back. Things had not proved so easy as he had anticipated. Mathematics took more time and more hard thinking than he had planned to give it. His English style was neither so fluent nor so accurate as he had been made to think in high school, and he could hardly see what use some of the subjects which he was required to pursue would be to him after he got out of college. He was fearful and discouraged, and there was no land in sight. All that I could say failed to convince him or induce him to sail on.

I watched a football player in our last intercollegiate game in his attempts to advance the ball. The defense of the opposing team was for a considerable time perfect. Time and again the boy tried with the ball to plow through the line, but the line held, and he was stopped at every attempt. There was for him, apparently, no land in sight, but he sailed on, the line finally weakened, the interference came to his support and he made a touchdown.

A friend of mine who was engaged in a scientific investigation made the same experiment more than a thousand times in order to reach a desired result. Over and over again he was advised by those who were onlookers that it was useless for him to continue. There was nothing, they said, to be hoped for by going on. But he sailed on, and ultimately he made the discovery he had been hoping for.

Persistence in following an ideal! It is a great virtue.

Glass Eye Keeps Jail Peace

Tiffin, Ohio.—The little matter of a glass eye has restored peace in the neighborhood of Seneca county's jail. The eye has proved a time and trouble saver for Sheriff George Burkett. And the same glass eye does not exist as far as Seneca county's prisoners are aware. Therein lies the story of an ingenious sheriff and the gullibility of unsuspecting prisoners.

Sheriff Burkett's county charges wouldn't behave. Meek as lambs and docile in his presence, they resorted to boisterous frolic as soon as his watchful eye was turned. The sheriff knew this. From his residence across the jail yard, he could hear the inmates creating turmoil which declined a week and lunatic tranquility as soon as he stalked warily through the outer iron door. His peace was disturbed. The neighbors complained. What was needed was an omnipresent eye.

To the amusement of the inmates the sheriff drilled a long line of small holes completely across an outer wall of the jail. Twenty-four hours after the last shaving was gouged through the last diminutive port hole the chuckles of Seneca county's prisoners faded. They were replaced in rapid succession by impatience, disgust and finally consternation. Their every action was now being watched by a jeering, belligerent eye. The sheriff was first at one hole, then at another—always with that same unimpaired stare. Inmates chafed under the almost constant surveillance.

Radium Used to Treat Defects of the Eye

Baltimore.—Dr. William Holland Wilmer, head of the Wilmer Eye Institute of Johns Hopkins hospital, has found a new use for radium in treating physical defects of the eye.

The radium, used in very small quantities, has been found effective in treatment of obscured vision blurred through formation of scar tissue in the corner.

"This use of radium," a preliminary report says, "is in the pioneer stages, but it has been found to hasten the absorption of scar tissue and to restore a high degree of clarity to the sight of many patients."

Some of the instruments used are so delicate and sensitive to vibration that engineering experts were employed to design the bases for them. To reduce this vibration to a minimum, solid concrete piers, such as might be required for a skyscraper or a bridge abutment, have been sunk just to support instruments of comparatively little weight.

Ancient Bell Rings Again

Neuenburg-on-the-Rhine.—The seven-hundred-year-old "Totenglocke," or passing bell of the former Neuenburg minister, which was overwhelmed by a Rhine flood in 1525, has been restored and placed in the tower of the Catholic church.

The Tragedies of Youth

THE FIRST QUARREL
WITH THE BOY-FRIEND

Should Make Motherhood Study, Says Specialist

Chicago.—Modern flappers should prepare for motherhood as 'thoroughly as do young men for their business careers.

"Better future generations and happier families will result through the discarding of the old traditions of motherhood which were largely 'rules of the thumb' passed on from mother to daughter," declared Esther Ackerson Fischer, nationally known dietitian, in an address here.

"Scientific research by the medical profession has removed many of the doubts as to the proper care of children and the modern mother is well advised to consult her family doctor constantly, following his directions implicitly rather than listening to the advice of neighbors or friends.

"Young women should study the problems of motherhood and learn to rely on the experience of specialists and doctors."

Reversion to Primitive

Albany, N. Y.—A few hundred feet from Albany, a city of more than 100,000 persons, Floyd H. Hitchcock, a full-blooded Mohawk Indian, has made his home. Like his forefathers, "Flower of the Swamps," his Indian name, lives in a wigwam with only a dog as a companion.

Five years ago Hitchcock decided he'd live his present life. Prior to that he married an Irish girl, who bore him two sons. Both now are members of the Albany police force.

"This is my life," he declared. "It is the life I love; the life of the forest and the streams. I am happy here, more than I would be in the city. I was brought up as an Indian runner, to follow the mark of the cherry tree, by an old Indian who bore the name 'Flower of the Swamps,' which I have adopted as my own."

The fifty-five-year-old Indian's home is located on the fringe of a woods only 300 feet from the Dominican monastery. An old oak tree, which once marked an Indian trail, is nearby. "Flower of the Swamps" lost his parents when quite young, and an old Iroquois brought him up as a runner. However, he later drifted among the whites and worked as a painter, laborer, bridge worker and finally as a stage driver for the government. He arrived in Albany in 1905 and married. Seven years ago he and his wife separated. He is unwilling to discuss his family affairs.

"This is my real life. I shall never go back to the old."

Trap Rare Tarantula in Hole in Beach Sand

Washington.—A hole in the sand made by the high heel of a woman walking along the water's edge near Chesapeake beach, Maryland, was the trap in which Herbert Barber, of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington found a very rare tarantula known as the "lost Atypus."

This species of spider, the scientific name for which is "Atypus bicolor," is a velvety jet black and the legs are bright orange. Only two specimens had ever been caught by scientists previously. One of these was found a few years ago at Plummers Island, Maryland.

13 Sit on Jury 2 Hours Before Judge Notes It

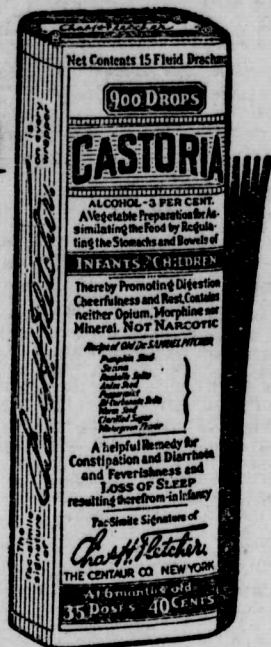

Newark, N. J.—Because neither the defendant, plaintiff, nor counsel in a negligence case here counted noses, thirteen jurors sat in the jury box for two hours before the error was discovered. The judge ruled that there had been a mistrial.

The extra juror was in the box because there happened to be two men named Smith on the panel called for duty. When their names were called both entered the box. The extra Smith found a chair and voluntarily became a member of the jury.

Child Carries Coin in Throat for Eight Months

Houston, Texas.—Physicians removed from a 16-month-old child's throat a penny that had been there almost half his life. Bobbie Means of New Orleans had been ill for eight months. At a local hospital the obstruction was located by the use of the X-ray and removed by means of the bronchoscope.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet and your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups. Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

Fliers Say Courage Varies with the Way they Feel

AEROPLANE

A pilots tell us that their courage, their whole attitude toward flying, varies from day to day, with the way they feel. If they feel full of pep, healthy, they can try anything—nothing frightens them. Their nerve is unshaken; their skill keen; their flying is machine-like in its perfection.

It is an entirely different story, however, if they wake up in the morning feeling sick, down in the mouth. Then flying becomes a real danger.

What is the matter with these brave people when they are not up to par? The natural poisons in their bodies have not been swept away. They are allowing their brains to be clouded and dulled by poisons which should not be permitted to remain in the body.

Drink Water to Help Wash Out Kidney Poison

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

HOW TO LIVE LONGER

By JOHN CLARENCE FUNK
A. M., Sc. D.

Director of Public Health Education,

Anger!

THERE are many other ways of exhausting one's nervous and physical energy than through hard work or a habitual disregard for the fundamental living habits. And anger is very prominently one of them.

For example, the other day a petty argument arose on a golf course. One of the participants in the controversy permitted his feelings to get the better of him. He consequently fussed and fumed—and then dropped dead.

An extreme instance, of course. However, one has but to look among his own acquaintances to realize that the man or woman who is constantly fretting or easily angered is burning up precious nervous energy. Moreover, many of them cannot afford to burn it up this way.

Temperaments differ, certainly. And it must be admitted that some people are more naturally given to emotional upsets than are others. For them the problem is doubly hard. But as a general proposition, the person who is enjoying a maximum of physical health is less likely to become the victim of habitually unrestrained emotions of any kind than is the person who through excesses or improper habits of living is the possessor of a sick or half-sick body.

It is a well-established fact that the mind and the body are so closely related that their effects act reciprocally. And if the body is in first-class condition, is maintained there and is not subjected to any unnatural stimulants, stress or strains, the likelihood of serious habitual emotional outbursts can be very much reduced, barring actual mental crises.

It follows that if you are constantly giving way to anger you are unfortunate and may even make yourself ill. It can kill you eventually.

Fortified with healthy recreations, proper amounts and kinds of food, sufficient sleep and plenty of fresh air, one cannot but help live more rationally. And in this manner, explosive anger, which is enemy to health and happiness, may lose its power to hurt you and others. Kill habitual anger by being one hundred per cent alive.

The Hot Weather Complex
ONLY a limited number of people are in a position to evade the summer's excessive heat. But that fact presents no excuse to become all worked up about it. Blustering complainingly about hot weather does not make it or the blusterer one bit cooler. It may have the opposite effect.

A hot weather complex which involves an actively antagonistic attitude toward the heated spell, frequent trips to the thermometer, vigorous fanning and vain desires for cooler climates, is the poorest possible way to fight heat.

It will surprise those who sincerely make the effort to discover that a proper mental attitude toward the super-heated season will go a long way in reducing actual or imagined misery. A daily bath, spare eating of red meats, starchy foods and sweets, the use of cooling drinks, a main diet of vegetables and fruits, and limiting physical activity to the minimum necessity, will also decidedly help the situation. But after all, the most important point is to develop a more tolerant attitude regarding the inevitable.

Torridity is not pleasant. But why make it worse by burning up mentally in the bargain? Kill the heat complex, and see the temperature drop! (© 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

Wild Creatures Thrive, Protected From Hunter
Sweden has the largest stock of bison, or European buffaloes, in the world, and it is expected that this rare animal will continue to increase in number, although it was previously threatened with extinction. The bison were originally imported to Sweden and have since been carefully kept and tended in a special preserve at Engelberg, in the province of Westmanland.

Similar work is being carried on with the beavers, which, owing to indiscriminate shooting had practically disappeared in Sweden not so long ago. For years attempts have been made to increase the beaver stock, and there are now about twenty prosperous beaver colonies. The number of these animals is constantly growing, thanks to strict protection and care. German hares and pheasants have also been imported and are thriving excellently in Sweden.

Similar protection is being given through rigid game laws and supervision to other big game of Swedish origin, especially to the moose and the bear. The first mentioned is protected from hunters throughout the entire year with the exception of a couple of weeks in the early autumn, and is therefore multiplying rapidly. The bear, "the king of the northern forests," is also safe from killers, and reports from the government domains in the North show that there is a fair number of bears roaming the "Swedish Alps." This animal is quite popular, as it is ordinarily not dangerous but has the reputation for being rather harmless and good humored, unless it is attacked or wounded.

Negro Figured He Had Given Parson Too Much

Governor Vardaman, of Mississippi, tells an amusing instance of the negro's attitude toward matrimony.

A dandy clergyman in the state named had married two negroes, and after the ceremony the groom asked: "How much yo' charge fo' dis?"

"I usually leave that to the groom," was the reply. "Sometimes I am paid $5, sometimes $10, sometimes less."

"Five dollars is a lot o' money, parson," said the groom. "Ah'll give yo' $2 an' den de Ah finds Ah ain't got cheated Ah'll give yo' mo' in a monf."

In the stipulated time the groom returned, "Parson," said he, "dis here arrangement's a kind o' spec'lashum, an' Ah reckon youse got de worst of it. Ah figgers dat yo' owes me a dollah and seventy-five cents."

This Mother Had Problem

As a rule, milk is about the best food for children, but there are times when they are much better off without it. It should always be left off when children show by feverish, fretful or cross spells, by bad breath, coated tongue, yellow skin, indigestion, biliousness, etc., that their stomachs and bowels are out of order. In cases like this, California Fig Syrup never fails to work wonders, by the quick and gentle way it removes all the souring waste which is causing the trouble, regulates the stomach and bowels and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally of their own accord. Children love its rich, fruity flavor and it's purely vegetable and harmless, even for babies. Millions of mothers have proved its merit and reliability in over 50 years of steadily increasing use. A Western mother, Mrs. May Snavely, Montrose, California, says: "My little girl, Edna's, tendency to constipation was a problem to me until I began giving her California Fig Syrup. It helped her right away and soon her stomach and bowels were acting perfectly. Since then I've never had to have any advice about her bowels. I have also used California Fig Syrup with my little boy, with equal success." To be sure of getting the genuine, which physicians endorse, always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name.

For COLDS

We all catch colds and they can make us miserable; but yours needn't last long if you will do this: Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin just as soon as possible after a cold starts. Stay in the house if you can—keep warm. Repeat with another tablet or two of Bayer Aspirin every three or four hours, if those symptoms of cold persist. Take a good laxative when you retire, and keep bowels open. If throat is sore, dissolve three tablets in a quarter-glassful of water and gargle. This soothes inflammation and reduces infection. There is nothing like Bayer Aspirin for a cold, or sore throat. And it relieves aches and pains almost instantly. The genuine tablets, marked Bayer, are absolutely harmless to the heart.

On their way up they are sometimes speared by poachers or fishermen who catch fish illegally.

Pioneer Family Reunion Proves Enjoyable Affair

The Johnson family, pioneers of this community, held a reunion and anniversary at the home of Albert Johnson, Burlingame, last Sunday. The birthday anniversary of the twins, Albert and Alfred Johnson, was observed. All the direct and collateral relatives enjoyed a sumptuous dinner. F. W. Johnson, the local popular roadmaster, is the oldest of the family, all the members of which were raised in Menlo Park and are well known on the peninsula and throughout the state. The charming wife of Albert Johnson, formerly Miss Ella Carmody, also grew to womanhood here. It was a delightful occasion and one that will be remembered long by the participants. The older members of the family present were F. W. Johnson, Fred Johnson, Albert and Alfred Johnson, and Ralph Johnson, Mrs. Frank Andrews, Mrs. V. Michel, and Mrs. Thomas Tuite.

WOODSIDE

Robert Schurman, who has a home in Pasadena as well as at Woodside and has been dividing his time between the two places, has decided in favor of Woodside. He motored up from his southern home on Tuesday. His family will arrive on Saturday and Woodside will be his principal place of residence from now on.

Mrs. Rudolph Schilling and son spent the week end in the Yosemite Valley.

William Jackson, who has been for some weeks at the Palo Alto hospital, was discharged and returned to his home and his business here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James V. Neuman gave a dinner party to several of their friends on Thursday evening at the newly opened Woodside Inn.

The Parent-Teacher Association held their regular monthly meeting at their rooms on Thursday afternoon. There were two formal addresses, one by Mrs. Christensen, chairman of the life membership committee of the organization for the 17th district, and one by Mrs. George Givens, formerly of Woodside, now of Redwood City. The nominating committee was elected and will have the duty of selecting the officers of the local organization for the ensuing year. The association will give a card party on the evening of March 22nd, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the dental clinic at the school. The affair will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Ralston.

Mrs. O. E. Blackington entertained the members of her bridge club at a luncheon at her home here last week.

Mrs. William Roth annexed another prize with her horse, Chief of Longview, when he won the championship stake for harness horses at the Los Angeles National Horse Show on March 2nd.

Although the recent days have lacked something of the feel and appearance of summer, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dibble, Jr., and family moved down from San Francisco this week and opened their home here for the summer.

Ernest Thompson and family will leave Woodside next week to live at Carmel.

The rains of the past week have filled the Bear Gulch Water Company's reservoir to capacity. The run-off in all the creeks has been greater than at any time within several years.
